His art is filled with commentaries on himself when the graffiti tag SAMO appeared across New York City in the late 1970s. His work includes a strong sense of community and a commitment to social justice. His art is not just about the physical act of painting, but about the impact it has on the community and on society. He believes that art should be accessible to everyone, not just the elite. His work has been exhibited in galleries and museums around the world, and he continues to be a leader in the graffiti community.

Hate reports indicate that 70% of coronavirus discrimination against Asian Americans has been motivated by hate. Asian Americans have also documented a large number of alleged bias and hate incidents. Stop AAPI Hate has announced three cities part of the Alliance of the Three.
